RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Stony Brook University, Stony Brook, NY | Research Assistant, Ongoing

- Under the direction of Dr. Nicholas Hoover Wilson, served as a graduate student research assistant on a project aimed at comparing the diffusion of two different interdisciplinary schools of theory: subaltern studies and Straussian political theory.

Stony Brook University, Stony Brook, NY | Research Assistant, 2017 - 2018

- Under the direction of Dr. Nicholas Hoover Wilson, served as a graduate student research assistant on a project affiliated with Yale University to survey current graduate methods education in American Sociology.

Stony Brook University, Stony Brook, NY | Research Assistant, Summer 2016

- Under the direction of Dr. Jennifer A. Heerwig, served as a graduate student research assistant for “Buying A Voice: Gendered Contribution Careers Among Affluent Political Donors to Federal Elections, 1980-2008” (published May 2018 in Sociological Forum).

McNair Scholars Research Project, Rohnert Park, CA | Spring 2014 – May 2015

- Conducted original research involving the collection of in-depth interviews with student veterans at the Sonoma State University campus. This project provided insight into the way male and female veterans navigate their gender identity as they transition from a hyper-masculine military environment to a predominantly female university.

Center for Ethnographic Research Summer Training Program, Berkeley, CA | Summer 2014

- Developed senior thesis at The UC Berkeley Center for Ethnographic Research (CER) Summer Workshop. The CER provides intensive hands-on research experience and advanced training in designing and executing a project using qualitative methods. Participants also receive training in Atlas.ti.

Sonoma County Women’s Oral History Project, Rohnert Park, CA | Spring 2014

- Under direct supervision of Dr. Michelle Jolly, Ph.D., I was selected to serve as Project Coordinator for the Sonoma County Women’s Oral History Project (SCWOHP), which collected the stories of women who played significant roles in the Women’s Movement of the 60s, 70s, and 80s.
